

2016 MWH GLOBAL SNAPSHOTS

FROM OUR EMPLOYEES AROUND THE WORLD

MWH®

BUILDING A BETTER WORLD

Our Purpose

Everything we do at MWH is guided by our purpose of Building a Better World. From the projects we undertake to our choice to distribute materials electronically whenever possible, we work tirelessly to ensure a sustainable and efficient use of resources throughout the world.

We believe that, when combined, our actions—both large and small—make a significant difference toward preserving and renewing the environment, which is so compellingly captured in the following images.

As you reference this calendar throughout the year, keep our purpose at the forefront of your mind and consider it in each of your daily actions.

Bison Park Summit Plateau

Lost Creek Wilderness, Colorado, U.S.
Jordan Jefferies, Denver, Colorado, U.S.

“Part of building a better world is preserving the pristine conditions and beauty that are part of the natural planet. Mankind has done a good job here. Hikers frequently tread this summit and yet it appears almost untouched.”

Black Stone Beach

Vík, Iceland

Mackenzie Garton, Denver, Colorado, U.S.

“Uniform, smooth stones deposited on a beach exemplify how nature can be a perfect builder. We often design around and against nature; however when we incorporate nature into our designs we can add beauty and meaning.”

The Infinite

Namibia, Sossusvlei
Stefano Susani, Milan, Italy

“A desert seems a static and never changing place. In fact, you will never find the same landscape twice. Each moment hypnotizes with infinite variety of lines and shapes. This Namibian desert, where life struggles to survive, has an extreme and unique charm. Here, the hardest forms in nature can still be beautiful. As the poet Giacomo Leopardi wrote, ‘and so in this immensity my thought is drifted on, and to be wrecked on such a sea is sweet’.”

One Global Community

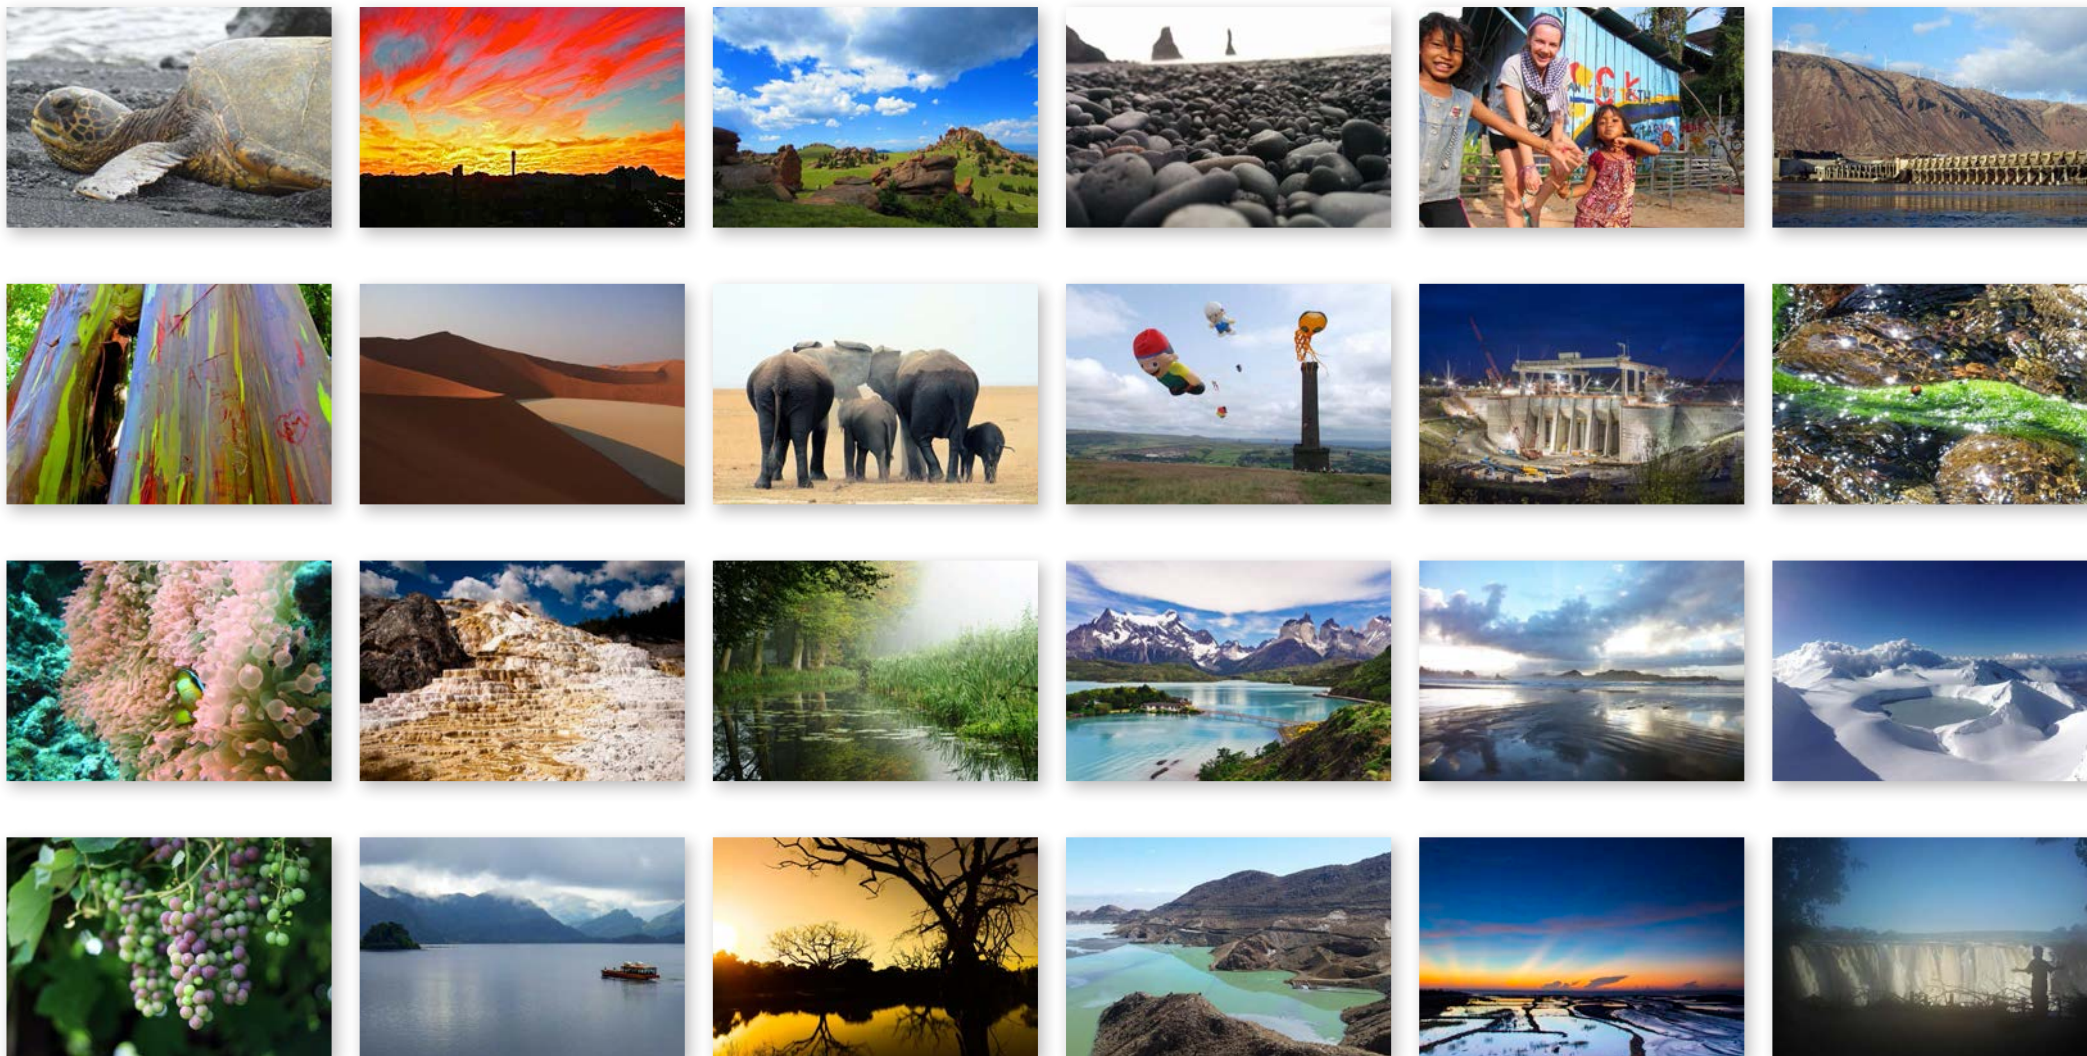

MWH truly is a global community.

Together with our clients and the communities we serve, we challenge norms, exchange ideas, renew visions and celebrate one another's successes as if they were our own.

It is these very relationships that help us bring the best to each job we undertake and enable MWH to thrive.

About This Calendar

MWH Global Snapshots is made possible through the efforts and enthusiasm of many talented MWH employees around the world. Thanks to their photographs, we can all learn more about our colleagues, our company and our world.

About MWH

MWH Global is dedicated to Building a Better World. As specialists in water and natural resources, MWH employees use innovative ideas and technology to help solve complex infrastructure and environmental challenges. This work is built on a nearly 200-year history during which MWH has delivered services from initial planning and design through construction, start-up and operations. Today, MWH employs approximately 7,000 experts including engineers, consultants and construction professionals in 35 countries on six continents. Each of these experts is committed to serving global communities through sustainable development and project delivery. MWH is a private, employee-owned company headquartered in Broomfield, Colorado.
