

2017 Snapshots

From Our Employees Around the World

Our Purpose

At MWH, now part of Stantec, we are better together. The complementary nature of our firms' purposes – Building a Better World and Creating Communities – results in an approach that has a direct benefit for both people and the environment. It's a beautiful balance; designing with community in mind helps preserve natural spaces while creating something new and functional for everyday use.

This calendar includes compelling images captured by our employees to illustrate this unique approach to our work. As you reference this calendar throughout the year, think too about your approach to the challenges you face. Sometimes the simplest solutions can be the most beautiful.

Landmannalaugar
Fjallabak Nature Reserve, Iceland
Duncan Kinnear (Edinburgh, Scotland)

“The camp at Landmannalaugar sits at the foot of an obsidian lava flow that filled most of the valley beneath it. An impressive reminder of how nature is continually rebuilding and reshaping the world around us.”

Machu Picchu
Cusco Region, Peru
Carrie Randolph Loar (Denver, Colorado, U.S.)

“Machu Picchu was built in the 15th century by the Incas, with advanced methods including innovative techniques for terraced farming. This is evidence of how quality workmanship can withstand the test of time, and inspiration for us to create enduring designs.”

Life without an i-Device
Uyanwatte, Sri Lanka
Shazad Maharroof (Doha, Qatar)

“What a joy to see children spending their evening playtime at a rice field, in a village where games such as Pokémon have not been seen or even heard of just yet. We should all cherish nature in this way!”

The Wisdom of Elders
Kargil, Aryan Villages, India
Michelangelo D'Arrissi (Rome, Italy)

"We cannot make any design without relying on the knowledge of local communities. We were lost in mountains paths, but this protective woman showed us the way to her village. She offered us food and shelter: remember, we cannot always succeed on our own."

Owls in Harmony
Satara, Maharashtra, India
Neil Kadu (Pune, India)

“Owls are generally solitary, but sometimes join together – like this parliament of owls relaxing peacefully. The concept of community ignores all castes and religions, uniting us to achieve a better world and future for all.”

Living Life by the Sea
Vernazza, Cinque Terre, Liguria, Italy
Paola Scotto Di Frega (Milan, Italy)

“Every now and then I wonder: in a city with no sea, to whom does the community address its deepest thoughts? To design with community in mind means safeguarding what nature has donated to us, even if it only acts, sometimes, as a good listener.”

Yankee Boy Basin from Mt. Sneffels
Rocky Mountains, Colorado, United States
Jordan Jefferies (Denver, Colorado, U.S.)

“This high alpine basin in southwestern Colorado feeds the Colorado River watershed with its snowmelt. It’s fascinating to me how the snowfall in these mountains has such a far-reaching impact on the water supply in the southwestern United States.”

Harmony Between Nature and Design
Marlot Estate, Den Haag, Netherlands
Laila Soer (Delft, Netherlands)

“Aesthetic design, with location in mind, can help man-made infrastructure enhance natural beauty. Here, the design adequately deals with storm-water run-off, while providing a beautiful space for locals to enjoy and a vibrant ecosystem for flora and fauna.”

A New Dawn on Christchurch City
Canterbury Region, New Zealand
Christopher Van Der Leer
(Christchurch, New Zealand)

“Captured from our office window, this photo represents a new dawn for the city. MWH, now part of Stantec, has been instrumental in rebuilding this community after the devastation caused by seismic upheaval.”

One Global Community

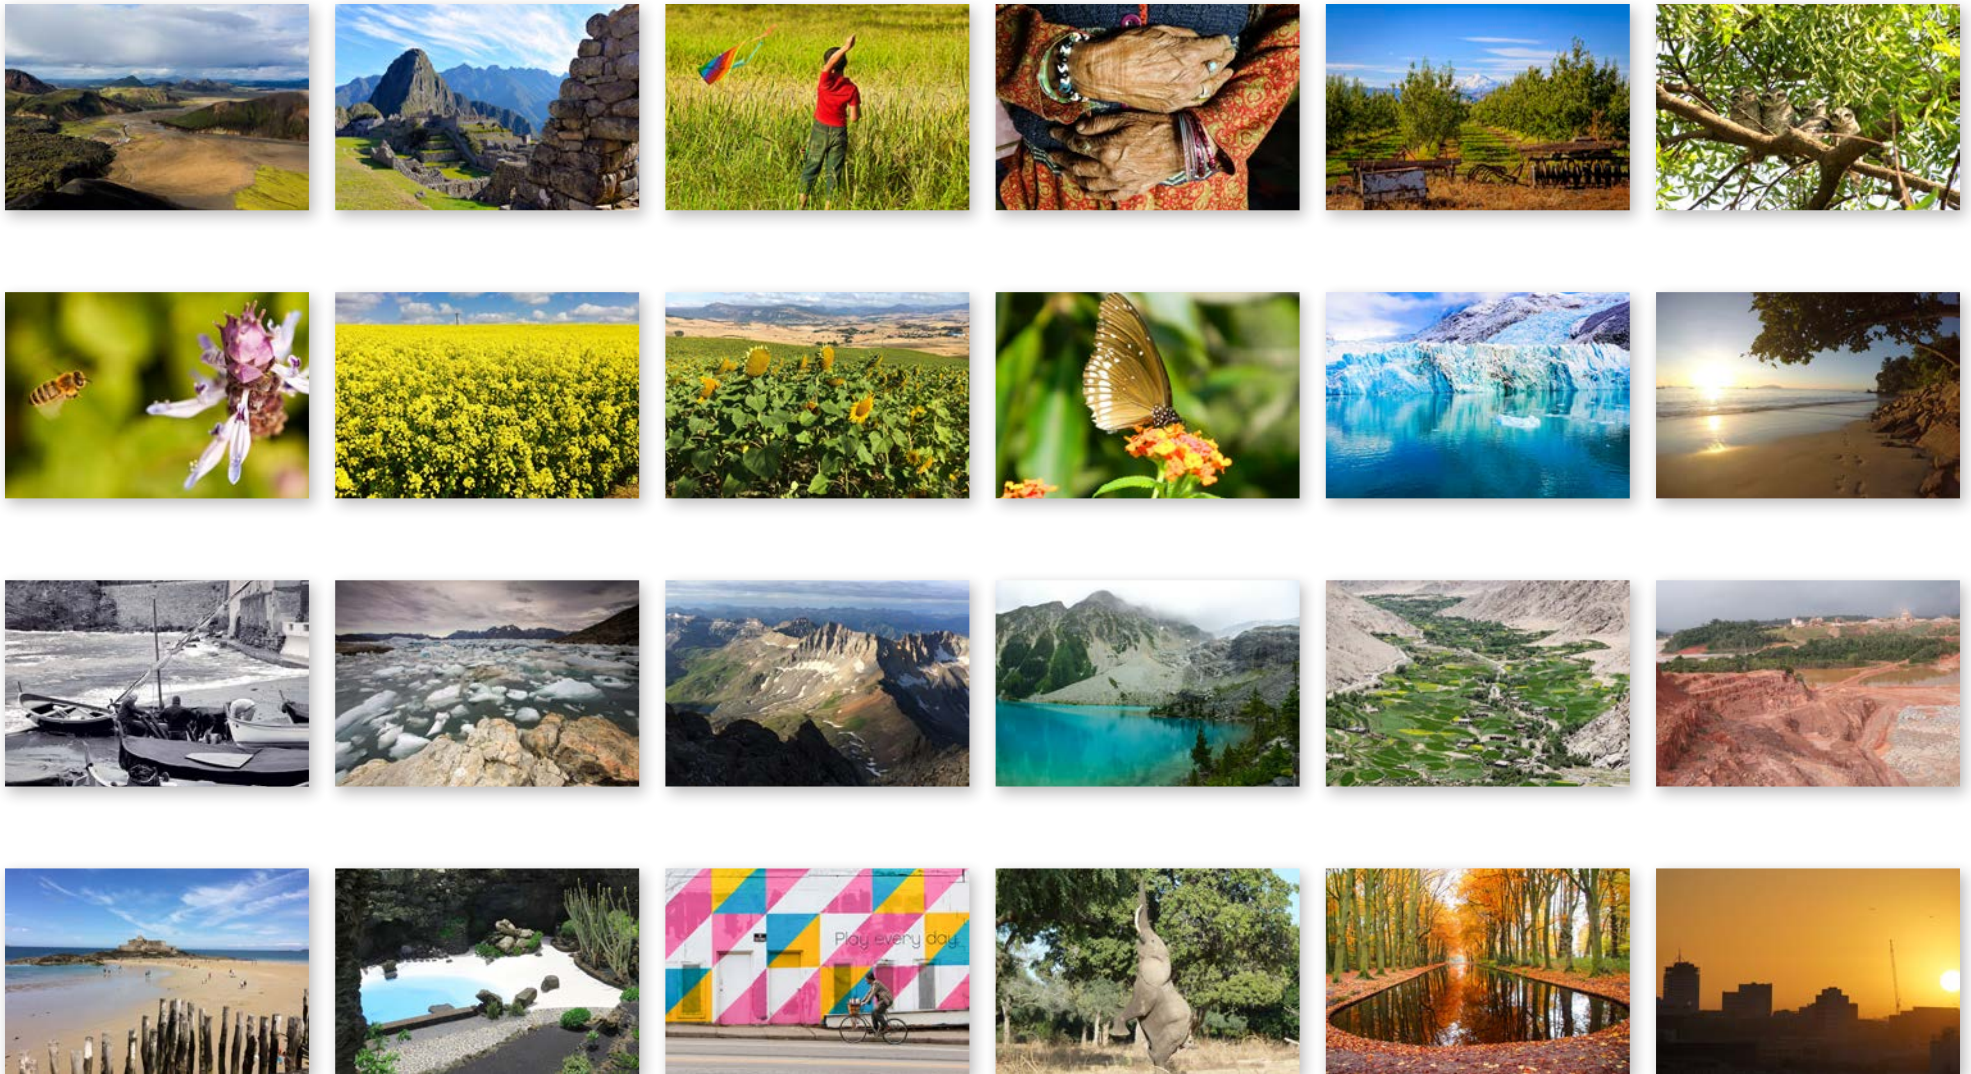

We are truly a global community.

Together with our clients and the communities we serve, we challenge norms, exchange ideas, renew visions and celebrate one another's successes as if they were our own.

It is these very relationships that help us bring the best to each job we undertake and enable our firm to thrive.

About This Calendar

This project is made possible through the efforts and enthusiasm of many talented employees around the world. Thanks to their photographs, we can all learn more about our colleagues, our company and our world.

About MWH, now part of Stantec

We're active members of the communities we serve. That's why at MWH, now part of Stantec, we always design with community in mind. Our community unites approximately 22,000 employees in over 400 locations across six continents. Our work as architects, engineers, and consultants from initial project concept and planning through design, construction, and commissioning begins at the intersection of community, creativity, and client relationships.

Our local knowledge and relationships, coupled with our global expertise, qualify us to go anywhere to solve clients' challenges in creative and personalized ways. Visit us at mwhglobal.com and stantec.com, or find us on social media.
